Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Monday 01 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cloud with outbreaks of rain.

This Evening and Tonight:
The rain easing off this evening before further persistent rain spreads from the southwest overnight. Some snow over the Sperrins and Antrim hills. Brisk southeasterly winds, gales developing along the coast. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tuesday:
Widespread rain in the morning, occasionally heavy with some hill snow in the north. Becoming drier from the southwest in the afternoon with a few showers. More rain later. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Unsettled on Wednesday and Thursday with rain and hill snow at times. Becoming mainly dry on Friday. Staying rather cold.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.